1. Joe Arpaio, Sheriff of Maricopa County, Arizona, is conducting immigration sweeps in metro Phoenix, and continues to make arrests under a state smuggling law that gives local police agencies the power to detain suspected illegal immigrants. The Obama administration has limited Arpaio's ability to make such arrests under federal law. Immigration arrests have typically been handled by the federal government except in some special circumstances. Which position do you most agree with, Arpaio or the Obama Administration?

12. The U.S. House of Representatives approved a new healthcare bill recently. If approved by the Senate as is, companies that do not offer health insurance would be penalized based on payroll costs. This could include small firms with 25 or fewer workers depending on the payroll size. Most Democrats support this as a way to encourage businesses to offer healthcare to their employees, while most Republicans disagree with this because they say it discourages increased pay or new hires at small firms. Do you agree or disagree with this portion of the bill?

13. The healthcare plan passed recently by the U.S. House of Representatives calls for a 5.4 percent tax on incomes of $500,000 or more for single tax filers and joint filers with income of $1,000,000 or more. Most Democrats say this is a more equitable way to fund the new healthcare plan, while Republicans say the tax will hurt a large number of small business owners, a source of job creation. Knowing this, do you support or oppose the surtax on high-income earners in the healthcare bill passed in the House of Representatives?
